

----- Forwarded message ----- Agness,

I have made the appropriate changes:

The President of the Australia China Chamber of Commerce and Industry of New South Wales, Michael Jones, said most business delegates want a taste of Australia's great outdoors. "To say Sydney should have a casino because that's what the Chinese tourists want is ludicrous," Mr Jones said. "The Chinese elite, which constitute the majority of inbound Chinese tourists, have casinos coming out of their eyeballs in Hong Kong and Macau. No matter how cosmopolitan Australian cities become, they are unlikely to compare with Paris, London or New York, or in the future Beijing and Shanghai."

I am more comfortable with this phraseology as I believe it is possible for Sydney to make it if Barry O'Farrell can deliver on his 2021 Baseline benchmarks.

Also ACCCI is the HO worldwide not a state branch - we were the first China bilateral founded in 1976.

I hope this is acceptable

Michael C H Jones
President- ACCCI

> comments as promised. On deadline so please respond asap. many thanks.
